the trip

Join Trisha Dixon and Fiona Brockhoff on an extraordinary trip to Réunion Island. Réunion is part of the Mascarene islands; a small archipelago of volcanic islands in the Indian Ocean off the east coast of Africa. Unlike its closest neighbour Mauritius, with its beautiful beaches, Réunion cannot boast the same, but what it lacks at sea level it more than makes up for in its wildly dramatic mountainous interior. The volcanic mountains and gorges offer a spate of trekking possibilities so if you have enjoyed Nepal or New Zealand, you will also enjoy Réunion, which has similar high quality trekking but with a tropical twist. This trek consists of two major cirques, Cilaos and Mafate, with an opportunity to ascend the highest peak on the island - Le Piton des Neiges at 3070 metres, and to explore one of the most accessible and active volcanoes in the world - Le Piton de la Fournaise. Our trekking route reveals a virtually undisturbed wilderness with sunken peaks and scarps surrounded by steep lush walls of vines, figs and palms with a cluster of mountains that rise to almost 2700 metres. With some luck we should spot Papangue (local hawks), white-tailed tropic birds, panther and chameleon completing this superb back to nature experience. In the company of Trisha and Fiona, this is set to be a fantastic trip. We hope you can join us.

about your leader/escort

FIONA BROCKHOFF

After completing landscape design studies, Fiona gained experience with various landscape designers, worked on re-vegetation projects and designed country gardens, giving her a real insight into unique ecosystems and how plant communities had evolved to deal with Australia's often harsh conditions. She began to design gardens that were uniquely Australian.

During twenty-five years of landscape design Fiona's philosophy behind creating beautiful and practical gardens remains consistent, even though each garden is unique. It materialises in her designs as a strong connection with the site and surrounds, simplicity, use of natural materials, sustainability principles and plants suited to the situation, usually a combination of Australian and exotic species.

Fiona runs her own landscape design business, Fiona Brockhoff Design, and designs urban and coastal and country gardens. Her partner's landscape construction company, David Swann Landscape Construction, builds most of the gardens, ensuring a high quality of finish.

TRISHA DIXON

Trisha Dixon is a writer - photographer with over a dozen books published, who has documented the landscape designs of Edna Walling, photographed the gardens of Gordon Ford and edited Garden History Journal for years. The National Library of Australia have acquired her photographs for their collection and have commissioned two more books.

A passionate traveller, especially for the road less travelled. Early childhood canoeing and walking down gorges with rubber tyres to go rafting along wild rivers left its imprint and somehow Trisha's career of writing, photography and landscape design has morphed into leading tours to some of the world's most enticing locales.... Trisha has led tours for Academy Travel, Renaissance Travel, the Australian Garden History Society, The Historic Houses Trust and the Royal Botanic Gardens as well as her specialist private tours.

When Trisha is not taking people on tours she is off either on bicycle down the canal paths of France, trying to find her way to the top of mountains or hills that intrigue her or just loving spending time on her property and large wild garden at the foothills of the Snowy Mountains.

adventure travel

By its very nature adventure travel involves an element of the unexpected. In remote and developing countries do not expect standards you are used to at home. Remote areas are sometimes unpredictable and itineraries may be altered. To get the most out of your adventure it is important that you are flexible, positive and eager to take on all the challenges that arise. If you are uncertain about your suitability for this trip we recommend that you speak with your consultant or travel agent.

country information

Reunion Island is located in the south west of the Indian Ocean and is the youngest, geologically, of the three islands that make up the Mascarene Archipelago (Mauritius, Rodrigues and Reunion Island). Created from successive volcanic eruptions and originally uninhabited, the island developed as a French colony. It is a richly multicultural society where cultural and religious differences peacefully co-exist. The inhabitants of the island are a mixture of descendants of French colonials, African slaves, Hindu plantation workers, Muslim Indians, Chinese, Comorians and Mahoran people. This ethnic diversity is reflected in wonderful cuisine and colourful traditions. Add to that some unique and spectacular scenery including sandy beaches, coral lagoons, rugged volcanic calderas, ancient forests, endemic birdlife, wild orchids, an active volcano and the highest point in the Indian Ocean (Piton des Neiges, 3070m) and you have a cocktail worth digesting.

Reunion Island has a tropical and humid maritime climate. The sea temperature rarely drops below 23°C all year. The summer (December to March) has an average temperature of 26°C on the coast. Winter (April to November) has an average temperature of 20°C on the coast. The temperature drops progressively moving inland and into the mountains. Warm clothing is essential to trek the cirques. It snowed in the 'highlands' in October 2006 and the "Piton des Neiges" at 3070m lived up to its name.

Cyclone season is usually between December and February but it is rare that a cyclone comes close enough to the island to be a threat.

Prevailing winds on Reunion blow from the east and south-east. The west coast is therefore known as the leeward coast. The east coast generally receives more rain than the west but there are many 'micro-climates' throughout the island so weather patterns vary quite a bit.

a typical day

Each day will be different but generally we aim to make the most of daylight hours. There may be a vehicle transfer on some days, either from our accommodation to the trail head or from the end of the walk to the next hotel or gite. Breakfasts are generally continental style, lunches will be picnic style en route and dinners will be hearty local fare at the hotel/ gite. Trekking each day follows well-marked trails, with time to stop for photos and also to enjoy the superb views. Some of the gites/mountain refuges are very basic and may only have limited, if any, hot water.

Provided we are advised in advance of your departure we are able to cater for vegetarian diets and can assist with medically recommended diets (allergies and intolerances). Please ensure you discuss your requirements with us well in advance (at least 1 month prior to your trip) to determine whether we can cater to such dietary requirements on your chosen adventure. Please note that options are likely to be limited in very remote locations or alternatives may be more expensive or unavailable. There may be times when those with special requirements may need to provide their own food. We are unable to guarantee a peanut-free or allergen-free trip, and therefore, we strongly encourage that travellers with life-threatening or severe allergies take all necessary medical precautions to prepare for the possibility of exposure. Passengers must travel with all necessary medications for food allergies and be capable of self-administering these medications.

what you carry

In your daypack you will need to carry extra warm clothing, a rain jacket, water bottle, camera gear, valuables and personal items such as sunscreen, lip balm, etc. in addition to a change of clothes and toiletries for 4 nights. You may wish to bring some boiled sweets or muesli/energy bars that you specially like for the trail. Your main luggage is transferred by car and you will only have access to it as described in the itinerary.

equipment required

Specialist gear required includes walking boots and a day pack big enough to carry everything you need for four nights. You will have access to your main luggage on Night 1, 3, and from Night 5 onwards (a comprehensive gear list is provided in the pre-departure information provided on booking)

acute mountain sickness

When we ascend above 2500 meters our bodies have to acclimatise to the decreasing amount of the oxygen available. To allow our bodies to adjust we have structured our treks so that you ascend slowly, allowing acclimatisation to occur. However, during the acclimatisation process, you may experience some of the following symptoms.

- Headache
- Tiredness
- Disturbed sleep
- Loss of appetite/nausea
- Shortness of breath
- Cough
- Palpitation
- Swelling of the hands and face

Individuals acclimatise at different rates. Your best strategy is to take your time and drink plenty of water. These symptoms may not indicate the onset of A.M.S. and if you experience them it does not necessarily mean that you should not continue. All our group leaders have extensive first aid training and we urge you to communicate with the group leader at all times should you believe you have any symptoms in order that we can effectively monitor your symptoms. The only cure for Acute Mountain Sickness is to descend.

Please note that your group leader has ultimate responsibility and may ask you to descend if symptoms persist.

vehicles & safety

During the course of your trip, we will use a variety of vehicles, all of which are fit for purpose and the conditions encountered. It should be noted that laws governing transportation safety may differ from those in your home country and on occasion some vehicles may not have seat belts fitted. While game viewing within a national park could be one example, public bus transfers or specialised transport such as 'tuk-tuk's' could be another. Where seat belts are not provided we strongly recommend that you hold tight to a fixed part of the vehicle at all times.
